

The Very Brave Seed

A story to read together / Page 1

Pip was the smallest seed in the garden. “What if I cannot grow?” Pip asked. The earth wrapped around him like a warm blanket. “You do not have to grow all at once,” it whispered.

The Very Brave Seed

A story to read together / Page 2

When the rain arrived, Pip drank a tiny sip. When the sunshine came, he stretched a tiny root. Above him, the other plants looked very tall. Pip took one small step anyway.

The Very Brave Seed

A story to read together / Page 3

One morning, a green leaf peeked out of the soil. A bee waved hello. Pip smiled. Being brave did not mean being the biggest. Sometimes it meant trying something small.